PROPOSED AIR CONVENTION

London Press Views

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 189: Received, June 1, 7.30 p.m.)

London, June 1.
Sir John Simon's statement concerning the proposed air pact which was made in the House of Commons on Friday and which has been very likely the last official statement delivered by him in the capacity of Foreign Secretary, was received with somewhat mixed feelings by the Press. The papers welcome on the one hand the announcement that the negotiations for the air pact are making favourable progress and although Sir John Simon did not utter a word in regard to the "conference," some passages of his speech were generally interpreted as foreshadowing an air conference in the near future.

The majority of the papers on the other hand stress that the British Government has evidently not taken full advantage of the possibilities offered by Hitler's speech. The "Times" in the editorial article, reproaches the Government with still attempting to realise the entire London protocol at a single stroke, nearly four months having been spent in examining and discussing the various suggestions, which—however useful they might be—undoubtedly were not as important from the British standpoint as the proposed air pact. Britain, so the paper continues, should at the earliest possible moment, sign or at least initiate the convention which clearly lays down the principle that in case of an air attack, all other signatories should be obliged to take action in the air against the aggressor. If this principle is once established, no power would dare make unprovoked attacks and the "Times" thinks it quite possible that this principle might become the cornerstone of a more wide-reaching convention, limiting the air forces and gradually abolishing bombers.

HIS MAJESTY

Slightly Indisposed

London, June 1.
The King is suffering from a slight chill and his medical advisers, who saw him this morning, recommended that as a precautionary measure he should remain indoors to-day. His Majesty is continuing to occupy himself with his customary work. Whether or not he will fulfil his intention to be present at the ceremony of Trooping the Colour on the Horse Guards Parade on Monday, when his 70th birthday will be celebrated, is unlikely to be decided until that day.

His Majesty King George V. who is 70 years old to-day.

The King attended a levee at St. James Palace yesterday morning but as he later felt slightly indisposed he cancelled his intention to go to the reception which the London County Council gave at County Hall Westminster in honour of the Royal Jubilee. The Queen and several members of the Royal family were, however, present.

The slightness of the King's chill and the precautionary nature of the measures taken in regard to it are emphasised in Court circles.

RECONSTRUCTION OF WORLD ECONOMY

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 189: Received, June 1, 4.50 a.m.)

Stuttgart, June 1.
Under the slogan "reconstruction of World Economy," the annual meeting of the German World Economic Society opened on Saturday in the gaily decorated Lieder Halle. Stuttgart's congress hall. More than 500 guests arrived in the morning and yesterday including delegations from Belgium, France, the Netherlands, Sweden, Luxemburg, Rumania, Switzerland, and Hungary.

In his welcoming speech, Dr. Schnee, after reading the congratulatory messages received from Hitler and Schacht and outlining the Congress programme, stressed that Hitler never accepted the idea of economic self-sufficiency, but always propagated even in the last Reichstag speech of "new Germany's readiness to participate in the solution of the world's economic problems of the present day."

ROOSEVELT GIVES HIS OPINIONS

N. R. A. Decision Effects

Washington, May 31. President Roosevelt, to-day drew attention to the grave effect which the Supreme Court's decision against the N. R. A. might have upon the country, since if it removed Federal control in that industry wheat and cotton prices might begin to record low levels. The market reacted quickly to his warning, and there was a heavy drop in some commodities.

Discussing the Supreme Court decision, the President said it had drawn a flat issue which must be decided. It would be ascertained before long whether the Federal Government had or had not any control over national economic and social conditions.

He said that implications of the N. R. A. decision probably meant the end of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration, the Security Exchange Commission, and Federal Alcohol Commission. Describing the Supreme Court's ruling as perhaps the most important in the nation's history, President Roosevelt said it was up to the people to decide now whether there should be forty-eight different state attempts to regulate the economic and social life or whether these matters should become the function of the Federal Government.

Gravely characterized the President's speech, as he sat behind his desk and conferred to-day for over an hour and a half with representatives of the press of the nation.

"The question will have to be settled by a vote of the people, not necessarily this summer or autumn or winter, but probably within the next four or five years," said the President.

TO ACT SOON

He was ready to act next week, he went on, in an attempt to counter the results of the Court's decision. But he withheld the nature of his plans.

The implications of the Court's ruling, the President said, removed any Federal jurisdiction over such major human activities as farming, manufacturing, mining and construction.

In his view, he went on, the Supreme Court's interpretation of the Inter-State Commerce laws would take the nation back to the "horse and buggy stage of 1789." It was at this date that the Inter-State Commerce clause was put into the Constitution.

Voicing the hope that the spirit of the Codes would be maintained voluntarily, the President said he had "faith in the commercial leaders of the country."

RESTORATION OF N. R. A.

He believed, he added, that the whole question of Federal jurisdiction would have to be settled by a vote of the people. But he emphasized that he did not consider the question one of partisan issue.

Referring to a batch of telegrams and letters on his desk, he said that most of them asked for the restoration of the N. R. A. in some form.

The people, he said did not appreciate the vast implications of the Supreme Court's judgment or such a suggestion as the renewal of the N. R. A. would not have been made.

A GOOD THING

The United States was now the only nation in the world without authority to exercise control over economic and social conditions, but he thought that in some ways the Supreme Court's ruling was a good thing, since it clarified the issue which, in many respects, was the greatest ever faced by the nation in times of peace.

There was one very serious aspect of the situation, he pointed out. If the Supreme Court had blocked any possibility of Federal control of agricultural production, it might have the result of knocking down the price of wheat to 35 cents a bushel and cotton to five cents a bale under the present world condition.

GERMAN IMPORT OF FOODSTUFFS

Hamburg, June 1. "After successful completion of the 'production campaign' Germany would not need to import foodstuffs or at least do so only in minimum quantities," declared the Minister of Food and Agriculture, Darre, at the reception given at the Hamburg Consular Corps in connection with the Agricultural exhibition here organized by the Reich Provisioning Board. "With help, however, of the market regulation which goes hand in hand with the production campaign, Germany will be able to absorb certain quantity of agricultural produce if sufficient quantity of manufactured goods are taken in exchange. In addition there a number of agricultural products which, for an indefinite time, we would not be able to produce in quantities sufficient to cover our needs, particularly the raw materials for industry produced by agriculture and if you adjust your agricultural production to this development, there is no doubt that profitable commercial relations can be maintained between Germany and the other countries."

Geneva

Geneva, June 1.
An appeal to foreign Governments to support the Chinese Government's efforts to combat the drug traffic in China by preventing the foreign concessions from being used as centres for the illicit traffic, was made by Dr. Victor Hoo at a meeting of the Opium Advisory Commission today.

Dr. Hoo revealed that 283 drug traffickers were summarily executed in China last year and over 100,000 opium smokers discharged from hospitals as cured, but the figures of opium addicts still ran into millions.

The members of the Commission expressed approval of the Chinese Government's efforts, but were reluctant to endorse the Government's proposals to execute all un-cured addicts after 1937.

The Japanese delegate, Mr. Yokoyama, congratulated the Chinese Government, and declared that he understood Manchukuo was in-

TO TOUR THE ORIENT

Dr. Glenn R. Phillips, Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hollywood, will arrive at Hong Kong, June 7th en route to the Orient, as per itinerary enclosed.

Included in the party are:—

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Backs, Miss Florence Backs, Miss Winifred Melrose, Miss N. Ella Wingate, Dr. Glenn R. Phillips.

They are travelling under the direction of the D. F. Robertson Travel Bureau, 408 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, California.

LESSON SERMON

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alas Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, June 2nd, 1935.

The Golden Text was, "When the wicked spring as the grass, and when all the workers of iniquity do flourish; it is that they shall be destroyed for ever." (Ps. 92:7).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand." (Eph. 6:10,12,13).

The Lesson Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We should become more familiar with good than with evil, and guard against false beliefs as watchfully as we bar our doors against the approach of thieves and murderers. Evil thoughts and aims reach no farther and do no more harm than one's belief permits. Evil thoughts, lusts, and malicious purposes cannot go forth, like wandering pollen, from one human mind to another, finding unsuspected lodgment, if virtue and truth build a strong defence." (P. 234,235).

A New Opening

"Can you spare me a moment? I am not," said the man on the door step, "an insurance canvasser. I do not want to sell you soap. I want preparations, undies, books, or anything of that sort."

The door had been closing, but paused in the movement. The house holder was reassured.

"I do not represent a sewing machine firm, nor any who sell wireless sets, gramophones, electric cleaners, or motorcars." The door opened a bit wider. "I'm not a collector, either of rates information, or accounts—I find it hard enough to collect a living myself."

The reassurances had their effect: no longer was there the slightest sign of the door closing. "I'm not a canvasser for any political party, and I don't want details for a directory." The householder stared at him. "For heaven's sake, what are you then?" she asked. "Ah," he said "I see I have you interested! I represent a firm which deals in photographic enlargements."

CINEMA TRADE NOTICES

NAUGHTY MARIETTA

With a replica of old St. Louis as a setting, a bevy of "hand-picked" screen beauties occupy a unique position in "Naughty Marietta" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular filmization of Victor Herbert's musical masterpiece with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, which is playing currently at the Queen's Theatre.

This group represents the Casquette Girls, sent from France to Louisiana to mate with its early settlers in the days of Louis XV. They figure in the picture in its amazing "marriage auction" sequences.

The younger feminine players of Hollywood were canvassed and each of the girls personally and specially chosen for a place in this group, which is headed by Mary Doran, noted for her many comedy roles, and Cecilia Parker. Such players as Jean Chatburn, Pat Farley, Kay English, Linda Parker, Jane Mercer and others, are in the interesting group.

Directed by W. S. Van Dyke, the picture is a gripping drama of the settling of New Orleans, into which the original Herbert music is interwoven. Its song hits include "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "The Italian Street Song," "Chansonette" and "I'm Falling in Love with Someone."

UNDER THE TONTO RIM

Twenty-seventh of the films to be made from a Zane Grey novel is "Under the Tonto Rim," which is coming to the Alhambra Theatre tomorrow. Stuart Erwin, Fred Kohler, Raymond Hatton and Verna Hillie head the cast which enacts it.

"Under the Tonto Rim" is the story of a cowboy who just cannot do anything right up to the time a girl laughed at him, and made him lose his temper.

Erwin is the cowboy. Failing at everything else, he is consigned to guard several hundred head of cattle corralled near a railway line. But he fails at that too. The cattle are stolen from under his very nose, and he decides that he is a complete failure and might as well follow the advice of two witty cronies, who want him to invest a small inheritance in a hog-ranch.

But the work thoroughly disgusts him. And the cronies, deciding that what he needs is a woman, look up a scheme. They take him to a border-town saloon, where they spread the report that he is a notorious desperado. Women flock around him; men shy away. But he is soon exposed, and the daughter of his former boss, who had been deeply impressed by him, turn upon him in scorn.

The scorn has its effect. He becomes just as wild as the wild man he had been painted.

BRIGHT EYES

Directing children in motion pictures is pretty much a matter of observing one large "Don't."

This is the conclusion of 238-pound David Butler who directed 43-pound Shirley Temple in her new starring picture, "Bright Eyes," now showing at the Star Theatre.

And the "don't" is this: Don't rob the youngster of her or his confidence.

"No one can tell any child how to act," Butler says. "Children and animals are the only natural actors—they get a chance to do things in their own natural way."

"I'd no more attempt to take credit for Shirley Temple's performance in this picture than I'd think of taking credit for teaching a porpoise to swim. The only thing I or any other director can do is to attempt to guide her without her realizing it. Incidentally, Shirley is the greatest artist with whom I've worked."

"Children are pretty much like animals when it comes to acting. I made a picture recently and some of the scenes featured a dog. The dog didn't get the idea right away and his trainer soon lost patience. He scolded, screamed, did everything but strike the animal and the longer we worked the worse things got."

"Finally, the trainer, in discouragement and disappointment, began to cry. The dog started to cry, too, then everybody laughed. After half an hour we tried again. The trainer had recovered his patience, and the dog did exactly as we wanted him to."

James Dunn, Jane Darwell, Lois Wilson, Judith Allen, Charles Selton and others are in the list of featured players with Shirley Temple in "Bright Eyes."

Saving Graces

"H'm! I don't like the look of your wife Mr. Blunt," said the doctor, after he had examined the patient.

"Neither do I," answered Blunt, "but she's a good wife and looks after the children and the house well—so can't grumble. I suppose."

ELEPHANT IN THE HOME

Bungalow-Size Animal

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 14. The news from India that the elephant is being supplanted by the motor car will occasion little surprise in the Western world, which has long since accustomed itself to think of the car as the only means of private transport by road. The elephant has been for many hundred years the India symbol of wealth and position, and while no doubt the great princes will probably continue to maintain their elephant stables for ceremonial occasions, the smaller gentry, and particularly those in Southern India, find that the cost of maintaining these great beasts is scarcely commensurate with their usefulness. And so the demand is decreasing. It was inevitable. The trouble about the elephant is that he is too big. Although he is strong, intelligent and gentle, and his wants are simple, amounting to little more than grass, bamboo shoots, and water, an animal that is rarely less than eight feet high and five tons in weight is not to be added to the household staff without careful thought about the expense of maintenance. An American humorist once remarked that what this country needs is a good medium-priced giraffe. Of course it is no business of the humorist to be anything but humorous, but if he had said that this country needs a medium-sized elephant he would have uttered a great truth. For it will be agreed that the domestic pets of Britain, the dog, the cat, and the parrot, are more companionable than useful. If India could breed and export to us an elephant about the size of a mastiff it would be a happy day for both countries. A nice small elephant could be extremely useful about the home. With its trunk it could water the garden, bath the baby, wash the windows. It would prove a docile companion

THE ELECTION OF POPES

Reported Change Coming

There is a persistent rumour in Rome that Pius XI. is preparing to revolutionize the voting system for the election of Popes.

In responsible circles it is generally believed that the reform consists in admitting the participation of patriarchs and archbishops to the electoral college, wrote the "Morning Post" Rome correspondent on April 11.

Several factors lend credence to such reports—special interregnum provisions, a projected new and very large Conclave building, unfilled vacancies in the depleted College of Cardinals, and the Pope's faith in the influence of the episcopate.

The traditional system of election is, of course, by the Cardinals alone in secret conclave. Isolated from the outside world, the Cardinals, after the death of a Pope, hold in the Sistine Chapel a series of secret ballots until a majority is secured.

Of existing Cardinals exactly 50 per cent are Italian. The remaining 50 per cent, are divided among twelve nations. An Italian majority block would thus virtually be assured at the outset of any election. The reported reform would revolutionize this balance and greatly increase the chances of a foreign Pope once more ruling at the Vatican.

The actual procedure has yet to be worked out by Pius XI., however, and it is difficult to believe that Achille Ratti would allow his enthusiasm for reform to prejudice the chances of a fellow-countryman succeeding him.

Big New Building

It is, nevertheless, considered strange that the Pope has allowed the number of Cardinals to fall to 50 out of the possible total of 70. While showing his reluctance to bring the College of Cardinals up to its normal strength Pius XI. has always shown his zeal in extending the work of the episcopal sees—of which he has created 111 in all parts of the world during his Pontificate.

Plans have already been put forward for the erection of a great new building in the Vatican City State to house a secret Conclave, of a size never before possible on account of space restriction. The proposed site is not far from the Governor's Palace.

One difficulty to be overcome is the necessity of having this new edifice directly connected with the Sistine Chapel for the exercise of the vote and for the scrutiny of the results. No outside contact must be possible.

It is possible that this difficulty will be solved by attaching the new building with an enclosed passage way to the ancient erections adjoining the Borgia Tower, and so to the Sistine Chapel.

The side of this new building also gives colour to the current belief that the Pope intends to reassemble the Vatican Council, whose sittings have been suspended since 1870.

Another indication that the new building is for a Conclave and not for council purposes alone is the fact that within the last few weeks the Pope has made various provisions in case of a long interregnum after his death. It is obvious that the convocation of the archbishops from all over the world as well as the cardinals and the more complicated Conclave procedure would considerably prolong the election.

His Disgust

A Scot, and minister were in a train together travelling through lovely part of Scotland. Beautiful scenery—mountains, dales, rivers, and all the glories of nature. When passing a grand mountain they saw a huge advertisement for Scott's Whisky.

The Scot gave a snort of disgust. The minister learned forward and said:—"I'm glad to see, sir, that you agree with me, that they should not be allowed to desecrate the beauties of nature by advertisement."

"It's no' that, sir," said the Scot bitterly, "it's rotten whiskey."

Literally Suspended

The visitor was looking round the settlement in Mexico.

"What's this big log-cabin here?" he asked a local man.

"That's our club," said the other, chewing. "We've got a new treasurer—the last was a swindler."

"So you sacked him?" asked the visitor.

"Wai," replied the other, pointing to a tree. "no—we suspended him!"

ROBERTA

Just a little matter of two letters starts double romance on a tinsel and glamorous way in "Roberta," RKO-Radio's new musical special starring Irene Dunne, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, showing to-day at the King's Theatre.

Because a band of American musicians are Indianians instead of Indians they become stranded in Paris. The band leader meets a girl from his old home town who is masquerading behind a title and an accent, and his All-American football player pal inherits the swankiest gown shop in gay Paris. And to make matters romantically perfect, the head designer of the gown shop is a beautiful exiled Russian princess.

It's all logically explained in the colourful picture, which features the golden singing of Miss Dunne, the whirlwind dancing of Astaire and Miss Rogers, and a spectacular fashion show. As added attractions, Astaire and Miss Rogers sing, and Fred demonstrates that he is a wizard as a piano player.

THE CASINO MURDER CASE

Alison Skipworth, whose interpretations of humorous and eccentric old women have added spice to many pictures, began her forty-fifth year as a stage and screen actress with just such a role in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer detective mystery, "The Casino Murder Case" coming as the next change to the Queen's Theatre.

In the new Philo Vance story from the pen of S.S. Van Dine, Miss Skipworth portrays the eccentric dowager of a family that becomes involved in a baffling poison death mystery.

SORRELL AND SON

"Sorrell and Son" is one of the most famous of all human film subject and its presentation in talkie form at the King's Theatre very soon, is an event of outstanding importance.

With its original star, H. B. Warner, again playing the name part, and Warwick Deering himself taking an active interest in the scenario it was a "plum" for the director assigned to it.

The decision to make the film was quickly followed by the choice of Jack Raymond to direct it. He was brought back from holiday to commence preparations, his first intimation of the news being gained from an evening paper which published a statement from the producer, Herbert Wilcox, before Raymond himself could be located.

"Sorrell and Son" is a different type of subject from those on which Jack Raymond has worked recently. He has made numerous comedies with Ralph Lynn and Sydney Howard, and was also responsible for the direction of the Jack Payne film "Say It With Music" an extraordinarily difficult piece of film craftsmanship which was tremendously successful.

But Jack has always wanted to do a really good strong human subject. He has been making people laugh so long that he has come to hanker after a chance to make them cry.

The perplexing series of crimes are unraveled by Paul Lukas in the role of Philo Vance, with the assistance of Rosalind Russell, who as Doris Reed plays her first leading screen role.

Adapted to the screen by Edgard Allan Woolf and Florence Ryerson, "The Casino Murder Case" was filmed under the direction of Edwin Marin.

WORLD STATE FELLOWSHIP

Saturday's Meeting

Some twenty persons were present on Saturday at the Jacobean Room of the Hong Kong Hotel when Mr. George She presided over the gathering of an informal nature with the object of the foundation of a World State Fellowship, designed to form the nucleus of a universal brotherhood of humanity without distinction of race, creed, sex or colour.

The man mainly responsible for the formation of this Society was Mr. Russell Sydney Woodruff who had prepared a draft constitution which was to be considered by an "ad hoc" committee of those present at the meeting and submitted for confirmation to a general meeting which will be called later.

The Chairman briefly introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Woodruff, saying that anything he had to say would be sure to be thought-provoking and suggestive.

CAUSES OF WAR

After the preamble to the constitution and the objects of the proposed society had been read, Mr. Woodruff spoke at some length on the ideas which had led him to consider the foundation of such a society. He mentioned incidentally that it was proposed to be non-profit making, though some remuneration might be offered to officers and others doing work for society. Another point the speaker mentioned was that it was proposed to amalgamate with the presently existing West and East Fellowship and the Christian and Non-Christian Association, both of which have been in existence for a year, these two societies to be subsidiary to the proposed World State Fellowship.

The Fellowship was intended to serve for the elevation of mankind, altruistic and free from partisan entanglement. Mr. Woodruff claimed that he had analysed the causes of war, which might be divided into three classes: immediate, intermediate, and fundamental. Among the immediate causes there were accidental and manufactured incidents; among the intermediate causes were such things as false notions or concepts, merchants of death stimulating the Governments to provide armaments, and the regarding of the might represented by military strength, as right; while among the fundamental reasons were three classes of causes: materialistic, cultural and psychological. In the course of his long and interesting discourses Mr. Woodruff made a close examination of all causes, with the many sub-divisions into which they could be still further divided.

WHY THERE IS WAR

The two words "patriotism" and "nationalism" could, in the speaker's opinion, be included under all three classes of the causes of war; and he refuted the idea he once saw expressed on a League of Nations Union poster, that "Armaments Caused the War." Armaments were not "the" cause of war, but "one" of the causes of war; and Mr. Woodruff claimed that nobody had previously been able to classify these causes as he had done.

His idea was that June 1 might be a universal peace day, rather than November 11, which was considered to be more or less so by numbers of people. There were obvious disabilities about the choice of Armistice Day for this purpose, in the point that those defeated in the last war might consider it rather as a day of commemoration of the allied victory than as a universal Peace Day.

TERRORS OF WAR

After Mr. Woodruff's speech the Chairman examined some of the legal aspects of the present meeting, with special regard to the proposed amalgamation with the existing West and East Fellowship and the Christian and Non-Christian Association. He was of the opinion that before such an amalgamation could take place the constituent parts must signify their desire to amalgamate, and this be conveyed in special meetings called for the purpose.

The general discussion on the proposed Fellowship was made most interesting by a number of people present.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

The Chairman made a draft resolution to be passed by the meeting; but the name of the proposed association, it was suggested by Mr. Greaves, might with advantage be changed to the "Fellowship of Man," which had been suggested 2,000 years before by Jesus Christ.

Considerable discussion on the matter of the name followed; but the Chairman decided that the meeting should vote first on an amended resolution, not mentioning the proposed name at all, as follows:—

"That this meeting resolves to form a society based on the ideas contained in the draft constitution submitted by Mr. Woodruff, and decides that an 'ad hoc' committee, consisting of all the members present at this meeting, be elected to study this draft constitution, and to report to this society later."

The motion was passed "nem. con."

A further resolution, that the name of the society be the "World State Fellowship," was proposed by Mr. J. Grover and seconded by Mr. A. S. Banker. An amendment that the name be the "Fellowship of Man," proposed by Mr. Greaves, failed to find a seconder and thus lapsed. The second resolution was then also carried "nem. con." The meeting then closed.

CAR CRASHES INTO "ISLAND"

Another motor accident at a tramway "island" occurred, along Hennessy Road for about the sixth time since their erection, the latest being on the west side of the road near Canal Road East.

It appears that at about 4.45 a.m. on Saturday private car 3211 was being driven along the road with Miss P. Webber, of the Royal Naval Dockyard and Mr. J. Smith, Jr. of No. 1 Railway Terrace, Kowloon as the only occupants.

The accident was attributed to the slippery state of the ground due to the heavy downpour which made the car skid with the result that the driver lost control and mounted the pavement knocking down the lamps standard in the middle of the "island" and smashing it to pieces.

Both the occupants received injuries to the face and body through the smashing up of the windshield which crashed into the standard. Both were detained at the hospital, but it is understood that Miss Webber, who had already booked her passage by the S.S. Ranpara, was carried on board on a stretcher and left the same day by the boat.

The damaged car was later towed away.

Hold Reunion Dinner In School Hall

Members of the Diocesan Old Girls' Association were hosts at dinner at the Diocesan Girls' School on Friday evening, when they entertained the Head Mistress, Staff, some of the present girls, and friends. There were 77 present.

At the official table were Miss Robinson, President, Miss Sawyer, Headmistress and Hon. Vice President of the Association, Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. E. C. Fincher, past Vice Presidents, Miss Anderson, Vice President, Miss Churn, Hon. Secretary, Miss P. Gittins, Hon. Treasurer, and Miss Grose, Mrs. J. Owen Hughes, Mrs. Cock, Mrs. Fald and Mrs. J. R. Higgs.

Miss Robinson, in the course of her remarks, and in proposing the toast of the School, said:—

It is with diffidence that I arise tonight to propose the toast of the School on this, the first occasion of an Association dinner, because I think there are so many better qualified than I am to perform this signal honour. However, I suppose a President must do as she is told. I had rather a doubtful compliment paid to me the other day. A group of our girls were sitting and talking together, and when I mentioned that I thought it about time we had a new President one girl turned around and said "Where could we get a girl who could talk like you?"

THE SCHOOL

There are many of you here tonight who would like to know something about the School. I was only at the School myself from 1919 to 1921, and I personally did not know much until I was told by Miss Sawyer. Here are the details. The School started in Hong Kong, originally in 1860, later at Rose Villas, Feb. 1st, 1900. The Head Mistress in 1900 was Miss Skipton, assisted by Miss Hawker. In 1900 there were 28 boarders and 8 day scholars. The School moved to Kowloon in 1913. Miss Skipton was Head Mistress until 1921, when she went home. The next Head Mistress was the late Miss C. A. Ferguson, from 1921 to 1925. Miss Sawyer became Head in 1925, and here she is today. The attendance in 1922 reached 200. In 1933 it reached 300, and to-day it is 312.

The school has gone from strength to strength, also shown by University results from year to year.

I propose that we send a message of affection to Miss Skipton, our Hon. President and an old Head Mistress. I am sure she would love to be here with us tonight. (Hear! Hear!)

I will now ask you to rise and drink to the School, its glorious past and present, and to its more glorious future, and I should like to include the name of Miss Sawyer, our present Head Mistress (Hear! Hear!), who has supported us most wholeheartedly.

THE HEADMISTRESS

Miss Sawyer said:— It is with real and sincere pleasure that I rise to reply to Miss Robinson's toast. On behalf of the Staff I would like to thank the Old Girls' Association for the very good wishes they have just extended to us, and I would also like to thank the Old Girls' Association for the very good wishes they have just extended to us, and I would also like to say a few words about the Old Girls' Association.

I have always tried to realise myself, and to make the girls at present in school realise, that we are building on the solid foundation made by Miss Skipton and her colleagues, and their successors the late Miss Ferguson and her co-workers. The Old Girls' Association was formed, I think, in 1925, because the girls realised that they wanted to have a link with their old School. I find it very difficult indeed to say how very much I appreciate the work of the Old Girls' Association. Whenever I speak of the D.O.G.A. I have always spoken of it as a very live organisation, and it has been such ever since its inception. This is the first old girls' dinner that has been organised. But this only goes to prove the soundness of the organisation. An old girls' dinner costs money, and the old girls were too busy collecting money for things much more important and unselfish than a dinner: they left no stone unturned until the D.O.G.A. Scholarship was founded. The members of the Old Girls' Association have kept in front of them the aims of the Association. They have promoted, and they are still promoting, the social, intellectual and athletic interests between themselves and the School. We shall have tonight a very striking example. I think of the friendship that there is between the old girls and the present girls. I told some of the boarders a few days ago that I was expecting about 50 old girls at dinner here, and I hadn't left the room five minutes before a child came running up to me—"Please Miss Sawyer may we give them a concert?" I was a little taken aback and told her I was not the President, but would ask the Secretary. Consequently you are going to be entertained, or not entertained, by a handful of boarders as soon as dinner is over tonight. (Cheers.)

"DAILY GIVING SERVICE"

"All this is really of such unspeakable value to the School, and I am proud to be the Hon. Vice President of such an organisation. The old girls have entered into the spirit of the motto of our School—"Daily Giving Service"—and at the present time they are trying to create a fund which shall

In the afternoon His Excellency presided at a meeting of the University Council.

Thursday, May 30th.—Lady Southern attended a meeting of the Busy Bees.

Friday, May 31st.—Lady Manning and Miss Morse arrived at Government House.

Mr. O. Barstow, M.P., arrived at Government House.

Saturday, June 1st.—His Excellency and Lady Southern, attended by the personal staff, were present at the 7th Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club at Happy Valley.

indeed lend a very practical helping hand to any old girl, or to anyone in any way connected with the School. This is another of their activities. Perhaps I can best tell you what I feel for the Old Girls' Association by saying that I rear my present girls only with the loving hope that they will one day become members of the Old Girls' Association.

I now ask the Staff and present girls to rise and toast the Old Girls' Association.

THE GUESTS

Miss Churn, the Hon. Secretary, said:—

In rising to propose the toast of "Our Guests" I cannot fail to express the pride we feel in having been honoured with the company of Mrs. Cock, Mrs. Owen Hughes and Mrs. Fald, all of whom, as you doubtless know, are members of the School, Committee of many years' standing. It is very kind of them to have graced this function with their presence (especially in view of the stormy weather).

Of the other guests Mrs. Higgs has always taken a great interest in the Association, and has attended several of our functions.

I think you all know Mrs. Bird who gave us so much of her time in the production of "Dick Whittington" last winter.

Mrs. Robinson, the adopted mother of the Association, has always been an invaluable help at our Bazaars—if it was not making jam then it was supervising the "teas." And as for the Staff, secretly I haven't quite forgiven them for the "licking" they gave us at tennis not so long ago. However I hope we shall avenge our defeat next autumn.

We all remember Miss Allen and her "Hiawatha," Miss Wentworth and "The Heroes," Miss Bedford and the "Contours," and Mrs. Thomas and the "Snapshot" drawings. Although some of us may not know the new arrivals, nevertheless we regard them as members of the family.

To wind up I call on the members of the D.O.G.A. to drink the health of "Our Guests."

GREAT CREDIT TO SCHOOL

Mrs. Fald, in replying to the toast, said:—

Madam President, Ladies: I feel that there are many here to night who could have replied to this toast better than I, many who could "better speak on behalf of the guests." But the task has eventually fallen to my lot, and I take the opportunity of thanking the D.O.G.A. very much for their kind hospitality this evening. You have heard already of the D.O.G.A. from Miss Sawyer, and I just want to add that it is really a very great credit to its Alma Mater, and Miss Sawyer must be very proud indeed. I have always taken a great interest in following in the local Press all social activities. I have been personally interested for a number of years in the D.O.G.A. and so have been interested also in the activities of the D.O.G.A. I am very pleased to be associated this evening with the D.O.G.A. on this first dinner, and I wish it every success.

DASTARDLY MURDER

In Yangtzepoo

Shanghai May 29.
Lined up against a wall, three Chinese formed human targets for two gunmen, who, in several shots fired at close range, killed one and seriously wounded the other two.

The cold-blooded murder took place at No. 70, Lane 2125, Yangtzepoo Road on Monday night after a robbery in which the two gangsters together with two others, who were not armed, gathered booty amounting to about $500. The crime was not reported to the police until two hours after its occurrence.

The gang entered the house at about 9.45 p.m. through the front door. With one man keeping watch over five occupants on the ground floor, the other three proceeded upstairs, where Chang Shu-yang, aged 41, a tenant, and his two friends, Chen Po-to, aged 34, and Sze King-dah, aged 32, were settling accounts. It was reported that the trio were money-lenders and settled accounts nightly.

The robbers leisurely ransacked the top floor and snatched every cent from the victims who were reported to have put up no opposition whatever. Satisfied with what they had obtained, the robbers marched the three into a hall on the ground floor. The actual murder was not witnessed by the other occupants of the house who were kept in an inner room. The gang escaped through a hole in a bamboo fence surrounding the house.

By the time the five occupants had plucked enough courage to come into the hall, the tenant of the house had succumbed to the fatal wounds in the chest. One was shot in the shoulder and neck, while the other was wounded in the body. All the three faced a wall and were shot from behind. The two wounded were lying in the Sacred Heart Hospital in a serious condition.

Consequently, motor buses have been prevented from running, and the Provincial Highways Motor Bus Company has requested the Government to expedite the necessary repairs to the different highways, so as not to hinder communications.

THE KING

His Majesty King George V celebrates his seventieth birthday to-day and we here in Hongkong, in common with the rest of the British Empire offer our congratulations and wishes for very many happy returns of the day. Although His Majesty has reached his three-score and ten years, he is as hale and hearty as many people who are much younger and the secret of this is strict and simple living which His Majesty has always pursued. King George completed his twenty-fifth year of Kingship but a month ago and it will be generally agreed that those twenty-five years were filled with trials and worries which would have played havoc with the health of many a younger man. That he has weathered the storm so wonderfully well is proof that King George not only sets himself an extremely high standard of living but like a true monarch, he does not allow himself to be worried unduly at the first sign that things are not going as smoothly as may be desired.

When he was but twelve years old King George entered the Navy, joining the Britannia at Dartmouth with his elder brother Albert and together they voyaged to the West Indies and Canada and in fact, during his career in the Navy, King George visited most parts of the Empire. The sudden death of his brother in 1892 made him heir, after his father, to the Throne and thus his naval career was abruptly brought to an end. He was made Duke of York and thus his training for kingship (which has stood him in such good stead) began. His responsibilities increased when Queen Victoria died on January 22, 1901 and his father ascended the Throne but the young duke was quite prepared for his tasks and carried them out in a manner which won him praise from all quarters. Amongst other things he opened the first parliament of the Australian Commonwealth; he visited New Zealand and met the chiefs of the Maori tribes; he was welcomed in the Cape and the demonstration given when he visited Canada showed that his efforts, on behalf of the Empire, were appreciated in the Dominions as much as at Home. He was made Prince of Wales on King Edward's birthday in 1901 and on December 5, of the same year, he delivered that memorable speech in the London Guildhall, urging an increased alertness on the country's part in order to meet competition. These were but trifles compared to what he was to do in later years and what we know he has achieved since his accession to the Throne on May 6, 1910. Those twenty-five years were perhaps the most difficult in the history of the British Empire but due solely to his fine qualities as a King and as a man, King George steered the Empire through a period of troubles in a manner that has won for him the love of every member of the Empire and the admiration of members of the other nations outside the Empire.

Probably no King has ever mixed more freely with his subjects than King George and though he has that dignity so desirable in a King there is no aloofness in his behaviour even towards the most lowly of his subjects. His people regard him as more than a King—they look upon him as the head of one big family and for that reason they celebrate his seventieth birthday as though it was their own anniversary.

COOLIES KILLED

Whilst working in the main quarry of the Shing Mun Dam on Saturday afternoon, three coolies, who happened to be removing earth and stones dislodged by the recent heavy rains, were suddenly buried by about five hundred tons of earth which came down on top of them, killing one of them Yum Ping Yee outright. The two others after being extricated were removed to the Kowloon Hospital to have their injuries attended to, but one of them, Yum Chan Choy, succumbed at 4 p.m. and the third man Lo Chun is still being treated at the Hospital.

NETHERLANDS TAKES ACTION

Amsterdam, May 31.

The raising of the Netherlands Bank discount rate from four to five per cent. is a sequel to the Bank again losing gold to America, coupled with the crisis to the franc, which has created uneasiness with regard to the position of Dutch currency.

Monetary circles here do not believe that goldsters can remain on their present gold parity if the franc depreciates, but the steadiness of Dutch Government bonds appears to indicate that the public is not much perturbed.

Fears that Holland may have to leave the gold standard soon, have decreased since the firmness of French Government securities has become apparent.—Reuter.

DROP IN HOUSE RENTS

Canton, June 1.

The rentals of houses in Canton commenced to drop two years ago, and as a result of investigations, by the different City District Officers, statistics show that the rentals of ordinary dwelling houses have dropped twenty per cent. at least.

From last year to date, due to the acute trade depression, and the increase of unemployment amongst the upper and middle classes, many who used to rent houses in the City, have been obliged to remove to their homes in the country in order to economise and reduce expenses.

Instead of residing in European-style buildings, they have now been forced to live in houses of the old type. Again, many tenants have been evicted by the landlords, owing to inability to pay rent.

Consequently, the number of empty houses and flats in the City has been gradually increasing, and "To let" notices confront the eye in all streets and lanes of the once populous districts.

Landlords are now unable to find tenants for their empty houses and are quite willing and glad to accept lower rentals, rather than allow them to remain unoccupied.

It is reported that many houses which were formerly let at $20 per month can now be had at $10, but fortunately, this is not general through the City.—Nam Wah Yat Po.

WEIRD CHARGE OF FRAUD

Shanghai May 29.

One of the strangest charges of fraud ever to have been brought in Shanghai is now being investigated by the police of the Chinese area. The charge concerns a 31-year old Shaohsing woman named Fan Ah-zai, and has been brought by a Chapei householder who claims that she defrauded the women of his house of $3 by an obviously impossible claim.

In the complaint it is stated that Fan Ah-zai called at his house and told his womenfolk that she had been pregnant twelve years and that her unborn child had the gift of speech. Among the talents possessed by the unborn child was that of prescribing for all kinds of diseases. The women believed her and paid $5 for a series of prescriptions.

On the basis of this complaint, the Chapei police detained Fan Ah-zai. At the police station Fan and her husband stoutly maintained the truth of her claims. It was because the unborn child could talk, the husband said, that he had given it the name Ah Lung. He suggested that the investigating policeman should call the child's name. It would immediately reply, he said.

On Sunday, according to the "Eastern Times," the officers tried the experiment, but without convincing success. Nevertheless, the result of the test was such that they have decided to try again.

If Gossip We Must

(BY PRUDENCE)

Three Giants And A "Baby"

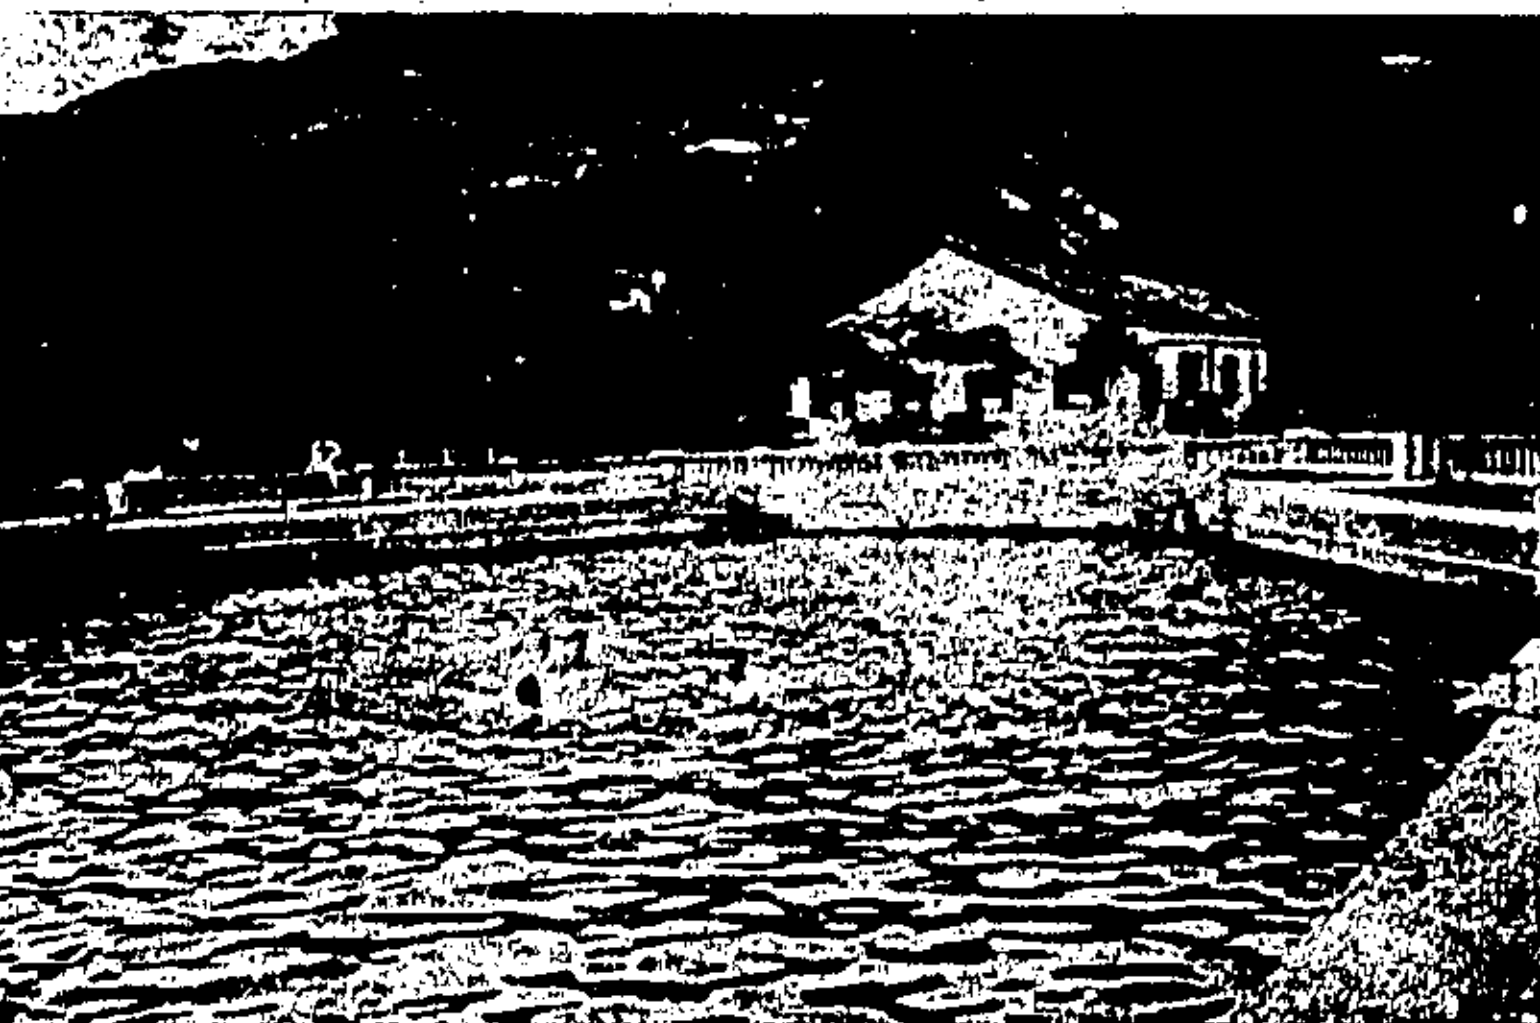

The Ceremony of Investiture held at Government House last Tuesday proved the occasion for the most festive gathering of the month, but this is not surprising when we consider that the recipients of honours from His Majesty the King happened to be two of the most lovable and popular members of our small community.

Lady Southorn (supported on this momentous occasion by Prof. W. I. Gerrard, O.B.E. and Mr. Tang Shiu Kin, M.B.E.) was the recipient of the O.B.E. and it must have added to her pleasure that she received it from the hands of her husband, H. E. the Officer Administering the Government. His short but very charming speech when he presented it voiced the feelings felt by "All Of Us." Lady Southorn has worked long and unselfishly for the good of the community, and, in particular, her splendid support of the Girl Guide Movement has made it one of the leading organizations of the Colony, while her encouragement is an inspiration to every girl who joins The Guides. I rather think that the future will show that her brilliant idea for an International Women's Club will have a very far-reaching effect too, for it has filled a real want, and given us the chance of meeting girls of every nation on equal terms.

When Lady Southorn has an object in view she goes right ahead without thought of herself, so it would probably surprise her to know how much her efforts are appreciated... but perhaps the warm and prolonged applause which greeted her on Tuesday would give her a small inkling of how people feel.

DR. BLACK

Dr. G. D. R. Black, too, is another most popular person and has worked long and unselfishly for the medical side of the Volunteer. Always genial and always cheerful and always ready with him and everyone seemed to be quite delighted that he has been honoured by His Majesty with the Military O.B.E.

The delightful pool at "the Cafeteria"

The ceremony of investiture was over all too soon, but then came cigarettes and light refreshments and every one who could get near clustered round Lady Southorn, who looked very cool and charming in a beautifully cut dress of snow-white organdie relieved with just a touch of black. There were so many pretty women and so many entrancing dresses that for once in a way I have to admit defeat... I simply can't do justice to them all, nor even half of them... I only remember a sort of blur of flower-like frocks... I had to notice Mrs. Fred Tracy who looked really "super" in pale yellow and Lady Shenton who was lovely in rose-tinted voile. Madame Montargis who was talking vivaciously to a circle of friends... Mrs. Elliott (the popular Matron of the Victoria) looking very sweet in gray. Mrs. Douglas Valentine who achieved a very sparkling effect in larkspur—blue.

Mrs. Owen Hughes was much in the fashion in a graceful dress of soft brown silk. This colour has really "come into its own" at last. Mrs. F. C. Hall looked very pretty in brown powdered with white. Mrs. Cock chose somewhat the same colouring with a draped neck-line and a smartly tilted hat.

A COCKTAIL PARTY

Mrs. MacGregor looked extremely attractive in polka-dots of navy and white. I saw Mr. Moore looking charming although I simply can't remember just what she was wearing. Jean Bird was original (as always) in cleverly combined plain and spotted silk. Alwen Owen Hughes was very easy to look at in peach-colour. Joan Dowbiggin (as usual) tried to evade my press-critical eye, but in vain, for I am putting it on record that she was very dainty in delicate green and white. Peggy Morrow looked like Dresden China in blue and pink and I must mention Heather Gerrard who looked very angelic in one of the latest halohats.

After the Investiture, quite a crowd of us went on to the Cocktail Party given by Lieut.-Col. G.D.R. Black—a very gay affair where healths were drunk and speeches made and everyone talked nineteen to the dozen. Mrs. Black looked simply charming in a dress of palest turquoise-blue—I don't believe I have ever seen her in that shade before but it suited her so marvellously she really ought to make it one of her regular colours.

It was all lots of fun. The rain came down in buckets outside, but could not damp the high spirits of those within. Everyone shook Dr. Black by the hand and congratulated him at least a dozen times and we all went off at last hoping the Birthday Honours will bring another such occasion along soon.

And, pray, who was the fair vision, who arrived at the D.O.G.A. Alumni Dinner last Friday evening, resplendent in black flowing gown and Jade ornaments in her ears, who crept in so stealthily to the vacant chair after the second course? If Dame Rumour is correct the Doga-Ites are in the habit of fixing meeting times for this young lady just one hour ahead—and who would say one cannot be punctual then!

QUETTA EARTHQUAKE'S HEAVY TOLL

Police Annihilated: Public Services Disorganised

Karachi, June 1. Further eye-witness stories of the earthquake revealed that the police at Quetta were annihilated while the public services were completely disorganised. Out of a total of sixty postal clerks, only four reported for duty. They are living in a tent and report that letters are being posted unstamped.

Entire families are wiped out while in some families the children are the only ones that have been saved. For instance a Parsee Sessions Judge and his wife were killed while their little son was saved. Two hundred boy scouts who arrived at Quetta before the earthquake are rendering valuable assistance, while all the large railway sheds that are still standing have been emptied of all material to accommodate the homeless. The Clubs and Young Men's Associations have organised relief parties who are travelling with all possible speed to the scene with vacuum flasks, tents, food and clothing.

The Government of India opened a Relief Fund on the very day the Jubilee Fund for the relief of distress in India was closed. The latter exceeds £750,000.—Reuter.

Karachi, June 1. A business man in Karachi said that he and four friends were seated in front of the house when they heard terrible rumblings. They ran into the open, and within a few seconds the house crashed to the earth in ruins.

Another said that at Shikarpur the first shock was felt at three o'clock in the morning, and lasted three minutes. The first quake was followed by minor shocks at intervals which lasted throughout the whole night and the next day until about two o'clock in the afternoon.

The death toll is severe, and terrible scenes were witnessed in the city. Owing to the fact that many sleepers were trapped in their beds, the cries of women and children rent the air; but there was no response, as the calamity was widespread over the whole station and the staff were crushed to death by the debris, with only a single exception.

The whole of the town of Shikarpur is in a state of mourning. There is not a single house which has not been visited by tragedy, with at least one of its inmates dead. The dead bodies are being burned and buried quickly to prevent disease.

CRICKETERS KILLED

Durdas Mal and Anwar, two of the 16 Indian cricketers who went to play in a match at Quetta were killed, the others being saved.

It is estimated that only one person out of every fourteen was saved throughout the whole of the affected area.

A special train has arrived from Lahore with sixty doctors.

From Lahore it is stated that according to data available experts place the total casualties in Quetta at 20,000.

A Poona message says that Dr. A. R. Normand, Director-General of Observatories, has learned that the meteorological office at Quetta and the house of Mr. A. K. Roy, the meteorologist, were demolished. Mr. Roy's three children were killed and Mr. Roy himself was injured. Mr. Normand has received no weather report from Baluchistan since the earthquake. —Reuter.

SEVERAL THOUSAND DEAD

London, June 1.

It is still impossible to gauge accurately the number of casualties caused by yesterday's disastrous earthquake in Baluchistan but it seems certain that the deaths must number several thousands. It would appear that the earthquake followed a line along the plain between Quetta, which is the principal city and the important military centre, and Masing which was almost completely destroyed, about forty miles to south.

Encouraging features in the situation are that the railways appear to have been only slightly damaged so that relief trains from Karachi and elsewhere have been rushed to the area, while nursing sisters are being flown in Royal Air Force planes from Lahore to Quetta, a distance of 500 miles. Quetta is equipped with large food and medical supplies so that relief is available and the British and Indian regiments on the spot are able to organise and aid the injured and destitute.

THE KING'S MESSAGE

The King has sent a message of sympathy from the Queen and himself in which he says, "Our hearts go out in sympathy to the bereaved and injured, and those whose homes and property have been destroyed." He asks the Viceroy to keep him informed of any further news.

Among other messages sent was one from the Secretary of State for India, who has telegraphed his profound regret and heartfelt sympathy with all sufferers, especially the relatives of those whose deaths are reported.

Preliminary estimates state that deaths in Quetta, among the native population, numbered at least 3,000 while the number of British dead is estimated at over 70. —British Wireless.

Kidnapped Youth's Experiences

Tacoma, June 1.

The kidnapers left him in a wood and told him to await his father, but as the latter did not arrive George wandered about till he reached a farmhouse where a kindly farmer fed and dry-clothed him and motored him home.

The most elaborate man hunt machinery ever assembled was set in motion by the authorities who believe that the kidnapers belong to a notorious gang guilty of many crimes including several murders. —Reuter.

N.R.A. CASES DROPPED

Sequel To Court's Decision

Washington, June 1.

In a White House statement, the President has approved the dismissal of 411 prosecutions of the N.R.A. infringement cases. The statement continues: "The Attorney General has recommended and the President has approved the dismissal of the 411 cases as a result of the Supreme Court's decision in the Schechter case. All these related to the enforcement of the code or similar requirements relating to violation of fair trade practices of individual businesses or failure to live up to the minimum wage hours and standards."

"Had it not been for the grounds stated by the Supreme Court in the Schechter case, these cases would have been pressed by the Government in order to obtain effective enforcement of wage standards and fair trade practices. There are a large number of additional cases in every State in which actual court action has not yet been initiated. These also must necessarily be dropped."

The statement reveals that all the 411 cases involved the Petroleum Administrative Board, Federal Alcohol Control Board and National Labour Relations Board among others. —Reuter.

CURRENCY CONTROL LAW CAMPAIGN

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 2, 7.30 p.m.)

Berlin, June 2.

In the course of steadily proceeding with the examination of members of the Catholic Clusters in connection with the offences against foreign currency control laws, announces the press bureau of the ministry of justice, strong suspicions have been raised that "The Catholic Mutual Aid and Welfare Society" here are also implicated in these offences. By order of the public prosecutor, a search of the Society's premises therefore has been made by the customs control officials. As insufficient customs officials are available for this purpose they were assisted, particularly in the task of cordoning off the premises, by detectives and state police. —Transocean Kuo Min.

GREEK MONARCHY TO BE RESTORED?

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Athens, May 31.

The Greek constitution will be altered to permit the plebiscite being held on the question of a monarchy or republic, according to a statement made by the War Minister Kondylis.

The nation will be asked to choose which form of government it prefers after the parliamentary elections on June 9, and in the event of a decision for the monarchy the government will immediately invite ex-king George to mount the throne once again.

The present political situation in Greece leaves no doubt open that the plebiscite will bring an overwhelming majority in favour of the restoration and in this connection it is interesting to recall that Kondylis was formerly one of the bitterest opponents to the Greek Gluebsburg dynasty. His convictions have now been changed as a result of the continual intrigues of Venizelos and culminating in the recent insurrection which Kondylis took leading part in breaking it down. —Transocean Kuo Min.

NEW CABINET FORMED IN FRANCE

Caillaux Accepts Post Of Finance Minister

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press").

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 2, 7.30 a.m.)

Paris, June 1.

Several surprises were sprung upon Bouisson after he had drawn up his cabinet list, necessitating him to present a revised version to President Lebrun on Saturday afternoon. The Deputy, Palmade refused the proffered honour of the post of Finance Minister of the new cabinet owing to the illness of his mother and was substituted by the former premier, Caillaux, who was originally included as a cabinet minister without portfolio, but is considered to be one of the most prominent of the country's financial experts.

Senator Roy also declined the post of Agriculture Ministry with the somewhat unusual declaration that he did not feel self-confident enough to fill the post which was thereupon allotted to the Radical Senator, Jacquier.

Doubts were also expressed in the lobbies whether the Minister of Pensions, Perffetty will accept the appointment, whilst the consent of the Mercantile marine Minister, Bertrand to enter into the new cabinet is also not yet confirmed. These alterations, however, made no essential difference in the character of the cabinet which will hold its first meeting on Tuesday morning. —Transocean Kuo Min.

FAVOURABLY RECEIVED

Paris, June 1.

The new Bouisson ministry was favourably received by public opinion, even by the extreme Right Wing parliamentary groups, although disapproved by a large number of Radical Socialists included in the cabinet in announcing the intention to judge the latter by its deeds. A similar attitude was adopted by the Left Wing groups except the Communists and Socialists, who are definitely hostile. Hence political circles believe the Government will obtain handsome majorities in the Senate Chamber next Tuesday. The same circles credit Bouisson with the intention of excluding parliament until the close of the present year from any active co-operation in political life so as to be able to have the necessary leisure for the reforming of the budget and the reviving of national economy. A few important measures will be submitted in the Chamber next week after which Parliament will probably be prorogued till the end of October. —Transocean Kuo Min.

FOREIGN PRESS CRITICISED

Italian Views

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press").

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 2, 7.30 a.m.)

Milan, June 1.

The Italian press seizes the opportunity afforded by the mobilisation of three further divisions to expatiate on the necessity of defending Italian security and to reproach the press of other countries, particularly Britain, with "encouraging the Abyssinian menace." This menace, writes the semi-official "Popolo d'Italia," can lead to explosion at any moment and then the European newspaper circles, which supported Abyssinia will have to shoulder heavy responsibility.

The myth of the traditional Anglo-Italian friendship will have received a severe blow, declares "Corriere del Sera" if the most important papers on the other side of the channel do not change their tone and revise their arguments.

The Anglo-Franco-Italian front of Siresa appears after only a few weeks to have become the Anglo-Franco-Abyssinian front, is the assertion made by the "Gazzetta del Popolo," which goes on to state that in Paris attention had already been called to such basis of "monstrosity" but not in London, where the "campaign" is against Italy and lets the treacherous basis of the traditional friendship of England for Italy to be seen. —Transocean Kuo Min.

government along the old lines, are expressing their confidence that Bouisson owing to his undisputed authority will at least successfully complete the most urgent task—the defence of the franc.

The rapidity with which the cabinet has been formed is generally taken as a sign of the change of sentiment in the chamber and so it is expected that the new premier will encounter no difficulty at the session on Tuesday in obtaining the extended powers not granted to his predecessor. In this case the new Government would be assured of a fairly long term of life. —Transocean Kuo Min.

FRANC RISES

Paris, June 1.

The composition of the new Cabinet with Caillaux, Petain and Laval holding the key posts of Finance, Defence and Foreign Affairs has created confidence and caused the franc to rise sharply in terms of sterling from yesterday's close of 75.30 to 74.50 while dollars dropped below gold point, spelling cessation in the flow of gold to America.

Pih's Fine Win In Juling Stakes

JUST THAT PAYS BIGGEST DIVIDEND OF THE DAY

First Half Of Season Brought To An End

A moderate crowd and moderate dividends was the order of the day at the Seventh and the last Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club for the first half of the year on Saturday.

On the whole the racing was good with only two favourites coming up to expectations. Mr. Harold Seth's Just That returned $94.70 for a win, this being the highest dividend of the day and backers of Pride of Tsingtao and Forget-me-not were each rewarded with $108.10 for the Daily Double.

Chief interest was centred on the Juling Stakes in which the special $1 sweep commanded a big sale. No fewer than 57,975 tickets were sold and the first prize amounted to $24,674.30.

In connection with this race Forget-me-not, ably ridden by H. C. Pih, came in first in a thrilling finish, just beating Flamingo by a short head.

D. Black continued in his winning vein by riding two firsts one second, one third in six mounts.

DONALD BLACK AGAIN HEADS LIST

BEAUFORT HANDICAP

There was a gloomy sky with a threatened downpour when the seven ponies faced the starter. The ponies got off to a good start with Tammany Hall taking the lead. Flybnight was a good second following closely with Clear View in the rear. At the half mile post Bonny Dundee spurred and came up to the third position. The ponies were bunched together with a head separating them. Bonny Dundee got ahead at the quarter mile post hotly pursued by Clear View and Flybnight, the same positions being maintained up till the end with two lengths separating the winners.

BONDI HANDICAP

Got That was restive at the start and it was sometime before the six starters got off together. Got That led but not for long for after less than 150 yards was covered the favourite, Derby Day, shot in front and never looked like giving away that position. He was followed by Bonniak Star and Got That. These positions were maintained till the quarter mile post when Got That displaced Bonniak Star who had dropped back with Australian Boy taking third place. Two lengths separating the three ponies.

JUBILEE PLATE

Gladiator looked fit and the wet course seemed to suit him when with three other ponies he faced the starter for the Jubilee Plate.

A perfect start to "the race of the giants" with Hetman in the front followed by Gladiator, Sadko and King's Warden respectively.

The same positions were adhered to when passing the winning post for the first time and when the bend was reached King's Warden moved up to third position with Hetman and Gladiator together. At the quarter mile bend Gladiator came out strongly and was hotly challenged by King's Warden. A keen struggle at the stretch saw the favourite slowly gaining the ascendancy and eventually winning from King's Warden by a length and a half. Hetman coming in third.

LANTAO HANDICAP

Flirt was holding up the start for a while. It was quite some time before the ponies were sent away. Gold Coin took the lead followed closely by Spinaway and Valorous. At the half mile post Valorous came up to the second position with Spinaway receding gradually. Flirt came up to third position. The same order obtained at the quarter-mile post. Valorous had a easy time winning by two lengths. A great struggle for the second and third positions between Gold Coin, Flirt and Racing Boy. Flirt being just being ousted for third place.

LAMA HANDICAP

Flirt led at the start with What A Chance and Gold Bullion in close attendance. The favourite, Pride of Tsingtao was fifth. What A Chance took the lead from Flirt with Gold Bullion half a length behind. Pride of Tsingtao moved up to the fourth position. Past the half mile post Gold Bullion was still in the lead with Pride of Tsingtao in close attendance. On the stretch Pride of Tsingtao took the lead and kept same till the end. Gold Bullion was second with Solar Star taking third place.

MANLY HANDICAP

Streamline's behaviour at the gate caused some concern but at the signal "go" all five ponies got off to a good start. Atlas went in front with Just That and Streamline coming after Just That displaced Atlas for the first place with Night Star taking third position. It was an easy race for Just That with Night Star coming up from behind to take second place, Atlas was just beaten by Alacrity for third place.

JULING STAKES

The chief interest of the day's racing—Juling Stakes—attracted eleven starters. Excitement was keyed up to fever pitch when the ponies faced the starter. It was an exciting race when Forget-me-not took the lead followed by High West. Bold Major came up to take second place from High West. It was getting to be a very close finish when Flamingo strongly challenged Forget-me-not and after losing the lead Forget-me-not regained it in the last fifty yards Pih was awarded a warm reception. Deemster came in third.

CROCOWILE HANDICAP

The last race of the day brought 13 starters to the gate. Touchstone went in front with Strathnairn and Double Chance behind. Touchstone maintained its position with Lucky Strike coming up to second place. Lucky Strike obtained the lead at the expense of Touchstone and past the half mile post Great Hall spurred to second position. Great Hall never looked back from now on. Double Chance gave a strong challenge but was staved off. Copper Idol coming up to take third place.

HOPEI GOVERNOR RETICENT

Peiping, May 31. General Yuh Such-chung, Governor of Hopei, has arrived here from Tientsin to interview General Ho Ying-ching.

Pressmen, after his interview with the Commander of the garrison forces, found him most reticent. Asked if he intended to resign, he would not reply.

He also declined to explain the hasty removal of the provincial capital from Tientsin to Peiping.

The Governor expects to remain here three days before leaving for Peiping.

BERLIN BOURSE

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, June 1. The general upward trend of the stock market on Saturday continued although some shares which had risen considerably fell again, so that the movement was not uniform. Electricity as well as public utilities advanced, similarly. The bond market remained unchanged with a small turnover. Call money 3 to 3 1/2. Young Loan fell 1 to 103. Reichsbank went up 5/8 to 179 1/2. Dreyfus gained 1 1/2 to 15 1/2. Saldfurth Potash 1 better to 178. German Steeltrust improved 1 to 85 1/2. German Mineral Oils fell 1 to 113 1/2. Siemenshalske went up 3 1/2 to 172. Bemberg Rayon gained 1 to 123.

The rises all along the line was a feature of the stock market throughout last week with the favourites gaining ten points and no more. The favourable trend is attributed to the good showing of the Savings Banks as well as the announcement of a number of firms that were ready to pay good dividends. The bond market, however, was quiet throughout.

The report, however, does not include the figures for the gold flight on Saturday as well as the first days of this week which was estimated to reach four milliards. As a result of these gold losses the currency cover fell from 80.02 to 78.32 per cent.

IGNORANCE OF MILITARY ETIQUETTE

Canton, June 1.

Certain military officers of the Canton Army have graduated from the Law School, but have not passed through a Military Training College.

A short time ago one of these officers had occasion to call upon General Chan Chai Tong, Commander-in-Chief of the First Division Army at Headquarters, but failed to deport himself in the proper manner, thereby showing his ignorance of military training and etiquette.

General Chan Chai Tong immediately sensed the reason of this officer's ignorance, but being of a high rank, he did not think it fit to personally reprimand him, there and then.

However, General Chan Chai Tong mentioned the matter at a recent conference of his officers, and in order to prevent a repetition of the disgraceful falling, he ordered that all the officers of this particular department be given instructions in military deportment and etiquette.

It is reported that these officers will be given training and instructions from 7.30 a.m. to 8 a.m. each morning, so as not to interfere with their regular office duties.

LOOK AHEAD

Air Force Expansion

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 18. We are on the eve of a great expansion of the Royal Air Force. The Air Ministry has warned its contractors to be ready for large orders.

For reasons that have already been stressed it is hoped that we shall see an equal expansion in this country's civil aviation resources.

It is hoped, too, that in this expansion sufficient attention will be given to the development of the flying-boat, which has an important and separate part to play in the years immediately before us.

There is no doubt that we have neglected the flying-boat far too long.

Now the Atlantic beckons to us. It is to-day the paramount lure of all who are concerned with civil aviation. Already France and Germany are racing for supremacy in the South Atlantic crossing. Portugal also intends to enter the field, and Italy will not be long behind her.

The Germans have relied largely on flying-boats to bring their Berlin-South American mail service to its present high efficiency.

LONG OCEAN JOURNEYS

The flying-boat on a long ocean journey must carry not only a sufficient payload to make the journey worth while, but also a very heavy supply of fuel. Special devices are necessary in order that a machine, so heavily burdened, can "take off." The device employed in the German South Atlantic service is catapulting.

Land machines carry the mail as far as Bathurst, in British Gambia. A flying-boat takes over, and flies to a specially designed ship which is anchored about 100 mile off the coast. Descending alongside the ship, the flying-boat taxis on to a trailing canvas apron and is hoisted aboard, refuelled, and then catapulted off for the main stage of its journey to Port Natal, in Brazil.

Another catapult ship, stationed off the South American coast, solves the problem of take-off on the return journey.

Imperial Airways have given an order for a "composite" machine, which may provide an alternative solution of the take-off difficulty when Britain's transatlantic services begin.

The "composite" is to consist of a flying boat with a seaplane locked on its back. The flying-boat, which is the "porter," carries only a small quantity of fuel; the seaplane contains the fuel load and sufficient fuel for an ocean journey.

The engines of both machines run full out to accomplish the take-off; and when sufficient height and speed have been attained they part, the "porter" to return to its base, the seaplane to make the ocean crossing.

A NECESSITY

That is the plan. Such experiments deserve the utmost encouragement. We must neglect no step that may enable us to make up for the years we have lost in flying-boat development.

Nor is it only in connection with the Atlantic that the development of the flying-boat is essential to us.

Our Imperial air-routes to the Cape, to India, Singapore and Australia might one day be closed to us by a European war. It is by no means impossible that we might find France or Italy or both barred to all foreign machines whatsoever.

In this case the Imperial services could still be carried on by machines following the sea-route by Gibraltar and Malta.

The flying-boat, a necessity for the Empire's development in these days of peace, would enable us also to pursue that development unhindered by the exigencies of a possible war in which we were not concerned.

HOME CRICKET

Notes From Fields

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 18.

First four Sussex wickets went down for 19. The last five produced nine runs. Village green cricket right enough—in spirit, anyway!

Leicester, out for 190, gained a lead of 124 and may win by an innings.

One slip too many for Gloucester at Trent Bridge. Notts, after losing six for 128, rallied to reach 192 for nine.

Then Parker, at mid-off, dropped a chance offered by Gunn. Gunn's way of showing thanks was to take part in a last wicket stand which carried the score to 250.

Lancashire must be very glad that the starting time at Oxford was brought forward from 12 o'clock to 11.30. Consequently, they had to change their batting order, some of their players being late.

Washbrook went in first and stayed to make 228. This twenty-year-old youth helped Hopwood put on 219 for the fifth wicket.

Jack Lee (Somerset) had a remarkable spell against Northants. He took the last three wickets for 0 and actually claimed four for 5 after lunch. The crowd shouted "Bowl at the wicket," to Clark when he operated against Somerset.

Scoring riot at Portsmouth, the Hants captain, Lowndes, gave Kent's bowlers a severe drubbing. He started the match with two boundary hits and, with Moore, put on 190 in forty minutes.

Even the fact that two wickets fell for a single did not disturb Lowndes. Went on to get 118 before lunch—34 from boundaries. Crease made a valuable 63, while Boyes helped him to add 120.

Hants' 424 was made at roughly 90 runs an hour. Kent added 10 more runs an hour to the pace when they batted.

Yorkshire must have been glad to see the back of Smith, the graceful Derby left-hander, at Chesterfield. His 189 was his highest score of his career.

S. A. V. SURREY

A splendid innings of 147 by A. D. Nourse at the Oval yesterday turned what might have been only a moderate display by the South Africans into something much more formidable.

The tourists did not shape well at first against the Surrey bowling, but after three wickets had fallen Nourse and Cameron made a stand which completely changed the outlook.

Fender yoked Siedle, who was a trifle late in making his shot, and Wade played on from Holmes.

After scoring 328 runs in four innings, Rowan felled badly through playing back at one of Gover's expressers.

From this point Nourse turned the tide. He batted at a run-a-minute gait, scoring with drives, cuts and forcing strokes.

Gover puzzled him now and then, and at last had his reward by getting Nourse caught at slip. Holmes took the ball easily.

Nourse had a cordial reception from the crowd of 10,000 as he returned to the pavilion. He batted two hours forty minutes, scoring 147 out of 238, and hitting twenty-one fours in a flawless display.

Cameron settled down after an early escape, and completed 50, in seventy-five minutes. His total of 58 included nine fours.

Of the remaining batsmen only Tomlinson and Langton showed any real confidence. The latter drove and cut stylishly, and had seven fours in his 40.

The tourists' innings came to a close when Gover found Bell's off stump. The total of 397 took five hours. Bowling honours went to Gover and Fender with three wickets apiece.

Sandham and Gregory opened the Surrey innings carefully, taking no risks. They scored 42 runs in the remaining forty-five minutes, and Surrey were 325 behind with all their wickets in hand.

SAVED BY SOCCER MEN

Twenty-five wickets in a day for 372 runs! The "Lord's" wicket is certainly justifying its reputation as a bowler's paradise.

The men who made the most of it yesterday were E. W. V. Robins

PROFESSOR W. E. SOOTHILL

Chinese Scholar Dead

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 18.

The Rev. William Edward Soothill, Professor of Chinese at Oxford University, died at his home in Oxford yesterday after a long illness. He was 74 last January.

Professor Soothill was born in Halifax. He went out to China in the eighties as a missionary of the United Methodist Church at Wenchow. He remained there from 1882 to 1907 and established churches, a hospital, a college, and schools. During this period Mr. Soothill systematised the Wenchow into a romanised system, translated the New Testament into Wenchow, and wrote a number of books, including a dictionary in Mandarin and an edition of "The Analects of Confucius" with annotations, running to 1,100 pages.

Mr. Soothill's next position was for four years that of President of the Imperial University of Shansi Province. From 1911 to 1914 he was President of the proposed University for China (United Universities Scheme) at Hankow. When the war made this project impossible to realise, he served for the war years as director of the Y.M.C.A.'s religious work.

In addition to his Oxford professorship, Mr. Soothill was a visiting professor of Columbia University, New York, and a Crown representative on the governing body of the School of Oriental Studies.

(Middlesex) and Jackson (Worcestershire).

Robins put himself on when the Worcester score was 68, and he captured five of the last seven wickets for 19 runs. He got a lot of work on the ball; the delivery that got rid of Pullen was a gem of spin bowling.

This collapse was not suggested by the opening play. Walters and Gibbons batted with refreshing freedom, and scored 85 in the first twenty minutes, but as soon as Gibbons was run out wickets began to tumble, and they tumbled for the rest of the day.

The worst troubles of Middlesex began when Jackson bowled round the wicket to a leg-side field. He soon got rid of Human, Hendren and Smith fell to successive balls, and with six men out for 33 there was a sporting chance that Worcester would lead on the first innings. But those two Soccer men, Robins and Hulme, saved the metropolitan county with a seventh-wicket stand of 42 in twenty minutes. Their speed between the wickets helped them tremendously.

THREE RAPIDS BOATS

Sale Confirmed

Shanghai, May 29.

The sale of three Yangtze Rapid vessels, as published in yesterday's "North-China Daily News," has been confirmed, and the bill of sale will be signed to-day by representative of Messrs. B. & S. and the China Finance Corporation.

The price has not been made public, it being understood that six other vessels are also for sale. The transfer includes the mv. I-Fung, the ss. I-Ping, and the ss. Chi-Ping.

Title to these ships formally was obtained on October 1, 1934, according to Judge M.D. Purdy, President of the China Finance Corporation who yesterday stated that the Yangtze Rapid Steamship Co. Hong Kong & Shanghai Bank Building, signed a deed of trust on that date, which conveyed all vessels, docks, office, and furniture fittings, and goodwill to the China Finance Corporation.

The China Finance Corporation had advanced $1,000,000 over a period of years, and this was the amount stated in the deed, with interest at eight per cent. The Company is still operating the other vessels, although the Corporation holds virtual title. Judge Purdy further stated that offers had been received for the sale of the remaining six vessels of the fleet.

To Protect Interests.

In order to protect their interests and those of preferred creditors, the China Finance Corporation had advanced another lakh of dollars since October 1, most of which was spent on paying the wages of officers and crews, insurance, and general supplies. Since October 1, there had been a lapse in interest payments, and on or about March 15, the China Finance Corporation declared the Yangtze Rapid Steamship Co. in default, taking steps to realize on the properties. One of their representatives attended the steamship offices, while another was appointed to the Board of Directors.

CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITIES OF CHINA

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 18.

A new branch of the United Committee for Christian Universities of China was formed last night at a meeting held in the Friends Meeting House, Manchester. Both Dr. Randolph Shields, who is Dean of the School of Medicine at Cheelo University, Tsinan, China, and the Rev. A. G. Castleton, secretary to the United Committee, explained the valuable work, particularly in the training of medical students, which is being done at the Chinese Christian universities. Already 6,000 graduates had passed through the universities.

Mr. Castleton drew attention to a passage in an address which General Chiang Kai Shek, the acting President of the Chinese Republic, delivered recently. The General said that in the difficult time through which China was passing Christianity was the only thing which could save the country.

WESTINGHOUSE HEAD

Puzzled By Reports From U.S.

Like most men of great achievements and heavy responsibilities, Mr. F. A. Merrick, president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and Shanghai's most recent distinguished visitor from across the Pacific, does not "court the limelight," to use his own expression. Rather, one gathers that he would a great deal sooner be out of print than in it. Nevertheless he is a charming person to interview, ready to give his considered opinion upon any question put to him.

Great minds think alike, says the old adage, and Mr. Merrick bears this out in that he agrees with others whose views carry weight, that business conditions generally throughout the world are improving. Mr. Merrick's visit to Shanghai—his first incidentally—is partly business and partly pleasure.

All in a Week

"I want to get the feel of the country," he explained. "I want to see the way the people live—how business is done—to get a better understanding of the Chinese—and I have exactly a week in which to do it! I have just come from Japan and am going on to Manila, so this is really in the nature of a short, exploratory tour of the East. Shanghai? Well, I can't form an opinion in 24 hours, but it strikes me as a very busy and a very important city."

There have been big doings in Washington since I left the States," Mr. Merrick added thoughtfully, "and I have been trying to filter out from English newspapers just what is happening at the Congress. Unless some very adverse legislation is passed, he thinks the business and industrial outlook should be very much brighter.

The continuation or otherwise of the N.R.A. was one point in connection with the Congress that interested Mr. Merrick.

"This organization expires by limitation on June 18," he explained, "unless the Congress decrees otherwise. It hasn't accomplished the millennium, of course, but I think it should be dispensed with only gradually, as the need for it decreases."

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly Report

Messrs G. A. Harriman & Co's weekly share report and market review issued at noon on Saturday states:—

The market improved somewhat after May Settlement with rates in some sections marked up to a certain degree but business was quiet and the volume small. Investment counters recovered somewhat from last week's new low levels. Hong Kong Tram changed hands at the improved rate of $12.50/55 and Telephones (old) at $19/19 1/2. Hong Kong Electrics opened with sales at $55 1/2 but later rose to a buying rate of 57 1/2 at the close. Hong Kong Lands were a shade better with transactions done at $301/31. Star Ferries, however, were still easy with sellers at $25 and wharves (c.r.) at $82.

Apart from Cements which were still on offer at $5.60, minor issues were slightly better with China Lights done up to $8.05 and Hotels at 4.15. Providents (old) had enquiries at 75 cents. In the mining section Raubs came into prominence and were enquired for at $5 at the close. Sterling counters remained more or less unchanged. Hong Kong Banks continued in demand at around $1000 and Unions at $330. The tone of the market at the close is steady but quiet.

Business during the week has been done at the following Prices:—

H. K. Banks $1000/1015
Union Insurances $322 1/2/335.
Telephones (old) $19-1/19 1/2
C. Lights $7.90/8.05
H. K. Electrics $55 1/2/57 1/2
Cements (Converted) $5 1/2
Dairy Farms $12 1/2/12 3/4
H. K. Lands $301/31-
4% H. K. Land Debentures $1000 1/2
H. K. Trams $11.60/12.55
H. K. Electrics $55-1/56 1/2

H. K. Hotels $4.15.
Benguet Explorations 11 cts.
H. K. Docks $6.50
Govt. Loans 4% 5 1/2%
